

UNDENIABLE INFLUENCE

Mimi Brown, CSP, is an award-winning keynote speaker, leadership expert, emcee, and DJ who helps high-potential leaders cultivate Undeniable Influence™ by turning what they've been told is "too much" into their greatest professional advantage.

At 21, Mimi appeared on NBC's The Biggest Loser, where she was labeled "too much" on national television. Years later, despite rising to the top of her profession, she was still being told to dial herself back.

Today, Mimi helps leaders build the confidence, executive presence, and communication skills to own their value, amplify their influence, and lead with intention. Through her signature Undeniable Influence™ keynote experiences, she combines powerful storytelling, practical leadership strategies, audience participation, and the instincts of a professional DJ to create experiences that move audiences from insight to action.

"A TOP KEYNOTE SPEAKER TO WATCH"

Mimi teaches leaders what most speakers overlook:

How to read any room, build strategic relationships, and communicate in ways that move people to action.

She brings a rare combination of proven sales success and professional entertainment experience as a DJ and emcee.

Her keynotes are experiential, not theoretical, giving people the specific frameworks and confidence they need to stop playing small and start operating at their full potential.
